

RON WAGNER

Senior Vice President, Account Management, Western Region Carlson Wagonlit Travel—North America

As Senior Vice President, Account Management for Carlson Wagonlit Travel (CWT), North America, Ron Wagner is responsible for all CWT business matters in the western United States, including client relationships, account management, and regional profit and loss. CWT's western region covers: Washington, Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Alaska and Hawaii. Based in San Francisco, Ron reports directly to Jack O'Neill, COO, CWT North America.

Prior to joining CWT, Ron was senior vice president, strategic global partnerships for iJET Intelligence Risk System, where he focused on traveller intelligence, risk management, and security solutions for corporations and their travellers. His industry experience also includes work for companies such as American Express, Diners Club, and WorldTravel BTI.

Ron is a past president of the Association of Corporate Travel Executives (ACTE), serving between 2000 and 2002, and was recognized for developing a five-year strategic plan and expanding the international reach of the organization. He was also the first elected supplier president of ACTE and is still involved with committee work.