

SARA LISSICK

Chief Financial Officer

Carlson Wagonlit Travel—North America

Sara Lissick serves as chief financial officer of CWT North America. In this role, she is responsible for managing North America financial functions including: Airline Reporting Corporation (ARC) processing; pricing; client billing and accounting processes; as well as financial planning, reporting and analysis processes.

Since 2005, Sara has served as senior director of Finance for CWT North America. In this role, she launched and led yield improvement initiatives and managed the budgeting and forecasting processes.

Prior to joining CWT, she worked for Carlson for more than seven years in a variety of corporate finance roles. Before that, she was an auditor with Arthur Andersen for four years.

A certified public accountant (CPA), Sara received her MBA and bachelor's degrees from the Carlson School of Management at the University of Minnesota.

Sara is based in Minneapolis and reports directly to Marc Karako, executive vice president and CFO, and has a dotted line to Jack O'Neill, president, CWT North America.
