CWT Names Mario Lopez-Belio to the Position of Vice President and Chief Procurement Officer

PARIS, November 6, 2008 — Carlson Wagonlit Travel (CWT), a global leader specializing in business travel management, has appointed Mario Lopez-Belio vice president and chief procurement officer. He reports to Marc Karako, CWT executive vice president and chief financial officer.

Mr. Lopez-Belio, age 43, brings solid international experience in business development and procurement to his new position. Before joining CWT, he was vice president, Enterprise Strategic Sourcing for Carlson, the majority shareholder of CWT and a global hotel, marketing, restaurant and travel company headquartered in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

From 2002 to 2006, Mr. Lopez-Belio was managing director, Global Sourcing for FedEx Kinko's Office & Print Services (now known as FedEx Office), a leading provider of document solutions and office services.

He also spent four years with PepsiCo Restaurant International, the world's largest restaurant group, first as senior manager, Supply Chain Management for the United States and Latin America (1996-98) and subsequently as senior manager, Business Development for Latin America (1998-2000).

Mr. Lopez-Belio started his career with Nordson Corporation, a global manufacturer of capital equipment used to apply adhesives, sealants and coatings, where he was sales and business development manager for Latin America (1992-96).

Commenting on his nomination, Mr. Karako said, "Mario will play a key role in helping Carlson Wagonlit Travel optimize its procurement strategy and processes on a global basis. His experience is diversified and he's used to working in companies with a vast geographic footprint like ours. In addition, his multicultural background and experience will be at home here."

Mr. Lopez-Belio has a Master of Business Administration degree in international management from the Thunderbird School of Global Management in Glendale, Arizona. A U.S. citizen based in Dallas, Texas, he is fluent in four languages: English, Spanish, Italian and French.
