

CWT Teams with iJET for Enhanced Safety and Security Global Programs

LONDON (OCTOBER 25, 2005) -- Carlson Wagonlit Travel (CWT) has signed a reseller agreement with iJET, a leading provider of enterprise risk management technology, to provide enhanced safety and security products and services globally, the business travel management company announced here today at the ACTE (Association for Corporate Travel Executives) Global Education Conference.

CWT will expand its core safety and security offering with tools designed to monitor risk, prepare and protect corporate travelers, and respond to life-threatening incidents 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Clients who opt for CWT's new safety and security services will benefit from an integrated offering of CWT and iJET Intelligent Risk Systems capabilities. They will have immediate access to an advanced threat-monitoring system, 24x7 reporting on individual exposures, as well as the ability to communicate with affected travelers.

Loren Brown, global chief information officer for CWT, said, "Recent world events underscore the necessity for an integrated travel risk management solution. We're confident that iJET's unique suite of services will help our clients respond even more effectively to the unpredictable aspects of today's travel environment."

Marty Pfinsgraff, chief operating officer for iJET, added, "We're proud to be working with Carlson Wagonlit Travel. Their commitment to security services, legacy of customer satisfaction and global reach is noteworthy. By providing a seamless solution to CWT clients, we can help support them in their emergency response and risk management objectives."

CWT will demonstrate its new safety and security suite of services at the ACTE Global Education Conference through Tuesday, October 25.
